

The Weekend - 1960's English (C0096)

A: Hey man... I really like your pad. Those lava lamps are far out! Thanks for letting me crash here tonight.

B: It's no problem, brother! I wanted a pad where people could come, listen to music and just hang loose, you dig what I'm saying?

A: I dig it man! We could throw a bash here and make it a really happening scene!

B: Yeah man, that would be groovy! Hey, I gotta split for a while, are you OK here by yourself?

A: Don't worry about me brother... You go take care of business.

B: Alright, peace out.

Key Vocabulary

pad	common noun, singular	a place where a person lives dig	principle verb, present simple	appreciate, like far out	Adjective	the latest, cool crash	verb	sleep (informal) brother	common noun, singular	buddy, informal way to call a close friend hang loose	phrase	relax bash	common noun, singular	a big party happening scene	common noun, singular	an extremely exciting moment groovy	Adjective	really cool

split	principle verb, infinitive	leave here peace out	phrase	see you later man	common noun, singular	an informal way to call a friend throw		hold (a party)

Supplementary Vocabulary

a gas	phrase	a really fun time hip	Adjective	very cool nifty	Adjective	cool, neat blitzed	Adjective	very drunk
bitchen	Adjective	awesome, really cool