Daily Life - You're Grounded! (C0258)

- Do you know what time it is?
- B: Um. Ten?
- Get in this door young man. It's midnight, you are A: two hours past curfew.
- I know, but it wasn't my fault! I told Jennifer she B: had to drop me off before ten, but she wouldn't leave the party!
- A: I don't care! You are grounded for life mister!
- Mom! That is so unfair! B:
- You know the rules and you broke them. No al-A: lowance and no TV for a week. I usually never ground you but this time I have to put my foot down!
- What! For being a couple of hours late? You have B: to be kidding!
- I don't want to hear it! Now go to your room! A:

Learn English on your Terms

Key Vocabulary

curfew N order requiring one to be indoors at a certain

time

allowance N money given on a regular basis for personal use

ties, esp. of a child

drop one P to unload someone as

off from a car, ship etc.

Supplementary Vocabulary

furious A overly angry or upset

V to be reprimended

unexcusable A have no reason or excuse

unreliable A a person who cannot be trusted to do something dissappointed A to be angry or sad when an expectation is not

met

Visit the Online Review and Discussion (text version).

©2010 Praxis Language Ltd.